

CHARLEY CASTEX

Autumn 2007 - NEWSLETTER

Greetings,

We are happy to announce very good news, as promised; our winter return to the mainland for in-person readings is now scheduled! In mid-January 2008 I will be accepting private appointments in the cities of Phoenix, Arizona; Denver, Colorado; and most especially our "home away from home" Asheville, North Carolina. Watch for our special event online registration form coming soon!

Some of our friends are scratching their heads at the very thought of leaving Hawaii at the height of Winter, to fly back to the mainland. Well, maybe we are silly to feel our return will be a 'nice contrast' to our idyllic residence here in Oahu, where we are nestled among the Mango trees with limitless sunshine and cool mountain trade winds. However, our family and friends really miss us!! We think warming each others' winter with an extended visit will be more than wonderful!

Convenient online pre-registration capacity is in development with relevant information for both in-person session availability and phone reading appointments and will be updated frequently.

As North America slips into Autumn, be sure to take time to re-connect with that most sacred of all sanctuaries, the kingdom inside your core. Indigenous people the world over view Fall as a seasonal opportunity for release of our 'lived and un-lived' past. A cooling, reflective period, meant to honor your loved ones that now occupy full time residence in the spirit world. Essentially, the ancients considered Autumn as Earth's 'kick back' time. A time in which the wise sought to regenerate mental and physical energy spent during Spring and Summer.

In keeping with the Autumnal quieting theme, I am proud to host a very limited, private event. An intimate evening of messages with Charley Castex offered for my established clientele in a very cozy, residential atmosphere in Asheville, North Carolina. Call for your seating reservation.

Of note: I am pleased to announce my new "MySpace" page which provides a neat avenue for correspondence with those souls who wish to be in touch. MySpace.com/CharleyCastex has a freshly personal and a more frivolous flair than my official site. It's shaping up to be a lot of social fun! Some of the personal pictures on MySpace page show off our new neighborhood here in Hawaii and also the teachers who put me in touch with the deepest recognition of a divinity that was, all the while, residing in my own heart.

Personally, I wish to thank each and every one of you that I am blessed to guide and counsel. Whether I read for you face to face or via telephone, I am enthralled with this graceful blessing; to issue clarity and guidance in sublime partnership with your guides, from one human heart to another.

In the Light & Grace Always,

Charley
